‘For they are the reason that storms are named after people.’

The thing about men who chase storms
Is that the majority of them
Does not have a clue
On what to do
Once they finally catch one

STORM

Temptation is for fools
It is reserved solely for the insecure
And the weak hearted

STORM

He was a thug in every way
Some might even say
Borderline criminal

But oh
How good he was to me

STORM

I knew I would destroy him
But he was too good
To stay away from

STORM

And as we sat on the beach
Drunk and in love

I could not remember

Ever wanting to be
With another man

STORM

'You are like a silent storm'

He said

I thought I had survived

When you left

Until I saw the damage'
